

Henry Floyd Coles

May 14, 1944 - April 17, 2019

Henry Floyd "Lucky" Coles, son of the late Bernard A. Coles and Susie Armistead Coles, was born on May 14, 1944 in Portsmouth, Virginia. He was educated in Richmond Public Schools and he graduated from his beloved Armstrong High School, where he was a proud member of their football team. During his career, he worked at Phillip Morris and Deep Water Terminal, where he made many life-long friends. After his retirement, he enjoyed golfing with friends, and he was a dedicated fan of Varina High School football. He attended every game except three, since 1993.

Lucky loved his family, and he was fiercely loyal to them. His advice, humor and encouragement will be missed by all who knew him. He departed this life on Wednesday, April 17, 2019. Lucky was preceded in death by his parents, his brothers Armistead Coles and Bernard A. Coles Jr., and his granddaughter, Ashley Coles. He leaves to cherish his memory, devoted wife Willetta Coles, beloved daughter Felicia Coles, great granddaughter Markayla Coles, sister Kay Coles James (Charles), brothers Anthnoy Coles (Antoinette) and Arthur Coles, and a host of other relatives and friends.

“ Over the past six years I've Coached either Middle or High School Football in the Varina area. Mr. Coles was a permanent fixture at all of my home games and some of the away games as well. Although I know he had a love for the game, I would like to think he was there just to support me as I coached. So Mr. Coles thank you for all of your Support over the years and I will continue to look to the end of bleachers near the concession stand because I know your spirit will always be there.
