

Herman Saunders

December 25, 1932 - May 19, 2003

Herman L. Saunders, Sr. son of the late Essie Mae Walker, was born on December 25, 1932 in Danville, Virginia. He departed this life and went to Glory on Monday, May 19, 2003 after a brief illness surrounded in love by his immediate family. He received his formative education in the Danville Schools and graduated from Southside High School in 1952. As a young man Herman Saunders moved to Baltimore, Maryland where he worked as a barber with his late cousin Bishop Willard Saunders, Sr. As the years passed Mr. Saunders was presented with his first of many entrepreneurial opportunities when he purchased the barbershop to manage as his own. In the spirit and lifestyle of an entrepreneur, Mr. Saunders earned his license as a Real Estate Agent then advanced to Real Estate Broker status. As sole proprietor of Herm Saunders Realty for over 35, his commitment to quality, honor and respect qualified him to receive awards and recognitions from the Real Estate industry. Mr. Saunders demonstrated devotion to the community through service as a candidate for the house of delegates, Commissioner of the Community Action Commission, President of the Board of Realtors, Chief inspector of the Barber Commission, Member of the Board of Realist, Educator for the Board of Realists and he frequently testified at the General Assembly on Real Estate matter. His compassion also extended to the students of the Baltimore City Schools in Lemmel Middle School where he was Vice Chairman of the Career Day mentoring program to introduce youth to the world of real estate and banking. Mr. Saunders supported Carver

Vocational Technical School's business program by offering training and paid positions for students to learn the business of tax preparation and standard office procedures. Mr. Saunders is survived by his son Herman L. Saunders, Jr.; daughter, Gail M. Stone; son-in-law, R. Brian Stone; grandchildren, Shaniya Torrence, Jay'la Saunders, Winston Stone, uncles, Williams Saunders, Irvin Saunders, Charlie Saunders, Sr. and a host of other relatives.
