

Inda Pulliam

March 11, 1930 - December 19, 2011

INDA INEZ PULLIAM, daughter of the late Robert Sell and Inez Johnson, was born on March 11, 1930 in Newtown, King and Queen County, Virginia. She departed this life peacefully on December 19, 2011.

She received her education in the Virginia Public School System. Inda moved to Baltimore, Maryland in 1948 at the request of her sister Mary. She was a domestic employee for many years and retired in 1990.

Inda married Gloster Pulliam, the love of her life, who preceded her in death in 1990. From this marriage they reared a daughter Patricia.

During her lifetime, Inda was the ultimate nurturer. Her loving and caring spirit had an impact on everyone she embraced. She provided aide and assistance to anyone in need, without hesitation. She never met a stranger. Her influence was strongly felt by family members, as well as in the community. She dearly loved family members, as well as in the community. She dearly loved family and friends, and opened her home for many memorable festive occasions.

She leaves to cherish her precious memory: her daughter, Patricia A. Johnson; one sister, Anna Lovelace of Washington, DC.; one brother, Thrumon Johnson, Sr. of Virginia; three sister-in-law, Agnes Pulliam, Lillie Dorkins of Baltimore and Bernice Barlow of New York. She also leaves to mourn her neighborhood family, Howard Rollins, "Dotsy" street, Arnetta Vines, Larry Bethea and Marvin.

Inda Pulliam left a legacy for a host of nieces, nephews and friends. She will sincerely be missed by everyone who knew her.
