To Isaiah: Our son Isaiah, we love you and wish you could have stayed a little while longer. We thank you for the love and joy you created in our hearts, the faith that you helped us grow in and the new life we experienced with you. We bless God for trusting us to be your parents and allowing us the opportunity to know you. We will miss you and you will always live in our hearts. Mommy and Daddy will see you again, but it's just not time yet. We praise God that you are now complete and in perfect health. Give God a kiss for us and save one for me. Love..... Mommy & Daddy God's Gift Embracing one and neglecting another with open arms we take for granted the things we have. Nothing belongs to us. All things belong to God. Once we are able to grasp this truth we will be able to accept God's will in all things. Isaiah was not my own but a gift from God sent to help fulfill His plan and deliver a message. Glory to God for my lovely boy who came and brought faith and joy, even though he was not with us long, his life was not without purpose. He will always be with us in spirit. Sadness and grieving are normal; however, we must not allow the enemy to defeat us in thought regarding the circumstances. God is yet faithful and true to his word. His purpose and plan are working even in this situation. I pray that the anointing of God through the life of Isaiah ministers to you on this day. “ I am so very sorry that you lost your precious little baby boy. Remember, that he is in the best hands of all, the hands of our loving heavenly father, Jehovah. He does not desire death for anyone, and that is why he sent us his precious son, Jesus, so that we might have life and have it in abundance. John 10:10. While on earth Jesus brought many people back to life; including a little 12-year old girl. Can you imagine how her parents felt when she opened her eyes again? You can read this heartwarming account at Mark 5:38-43. But Jesus won't stop there. His purpose is to resurrect billions back to life in the near future. Jehovah has given this son all authority to resurrect the dead, and the account says that just as the father has life in himself, so he has bestowed upon the son to have life within himself, and he has given him power to do judging. Then the account goes on to say, "Do not marvel at this, because the hour is coming in which all those in the memorial tombs will hear his voice and come out." John 5:25-29. Jesus also made this powerful promise: "I am the resurrection and the life. "Everyone exercising faith in me, even though he dies, will come to life." Very soon this earth will be a paradise just the way Jehovah intended from the beginning, and such things as violence, sickness, and death will be a thing of the past. Imagine a beautiful peaceful world; a world without pain or sorrow. Well this is no mere dream, and the dead will also experience these blessings. Jehovah begs all of us; to anyone wishing, come and take life's waters free. Rev 22:17. If we are faithful and obedient, we are guaranteed that one day we will see our loved ones come to life again. may you be comforted by that promise.##imported-begin##R Johnson##imported-end##

“ Please accept my sincere condolences for the loss of your dear loved one. It is especially sad when death overtakes someone so young. The Bible makes this comforting promise: "Jehovah is near to those that are broken at heart; and those who are crushed in spirit he saves (Psalm34:18). It also encourages us to throw our burdens on God and he will sustain us (Psalm55:22). John 5:28-29 tells us of a future time when all those in the memorial tombs will come out by means of a resurrection to a paradise earth. May you find solace in the "God of all comfort" (2Cor1:3-4).
