

James Allan Singletary

April 26, 1968 - July 22, 2015

James Allan Singletary, Jr. affectionately known as "Tank" was born April 26, 1968 in Baltimore, Maryland to the late James Allan Singletary, Sr. and Grace Lee Singletary. Tank departed this life on July 22, 2015.

Tank received his education through the Baltimore City School System and graduated from Walbrook High School where he was recognized as an "All-American" football player. He attended Morgan State University with a desire to be an engineer and later learned he would be a better accountant. But, everyone knows that Tank's true love was sports. He spent most of his relaxing times analyzing the players of the game and calling the next play.

Tank had various jobs in Baltimore, but was most proud of his achievements with the Coca-Cola Bottling Company. He took great pride in being a commercial driver in the company. After college Tank married and from that union were his biggest treasures in life, Morgan and Chandler. Morgan wore the banner of "Daddy's Little Girl" and Chandler was the best Ravens Football Living-Room Tailgating Buddy ever.

A true native son, Tank often talked about being so lucky and fortunate for him and brother Keith to live in Maryland among his close loving family consisting of parents, grandparents, aunts, uncles and cousins. Tank was a true believer in family. He especially loved the bonding memories of family gatherings, cookouts and card playing. Thoughtful and observant, Tank always said what he meant and meant what he said. He was a soft spoken spirit with a magnetic charm. The family pranks and antics always made him laugh. Tank was very loyal to family. His mom, Grace, always speaks with pride when she talks about the many ways he lived his life being her "rock".

Tank leaves behind to celebrate his life his mother Grace Singletary, his son and daughter, Morgan and Chandler Singletary, his brother Keith Singletary, sister in-law Michelle Singletary, four nephews, one a host of aunts, uncles, cousins and friends.

To The Singletary Family... Words can never express the heartfelt sympathy extended to your family during this most difficult time. Find comfort in knowing that his journey in life left fond memories of the short time that James was among us. He is at peace and his work on Earth is done. Weeping may endure a night but there will be joy in the morning. Take comfort in knowing that your family is being kept in prayer constantly especially during this difficult time. May God guide your footsteps to a path of comfort. Sincerely.. Yours in Christian Fellowship..Laura Austin
