

Jessica Taylor Stanley

December 26, 1994 - September 3, 2016

Jessica Taylor Stanley was born on a cold winter afternoon in Baltimore, MD on the 26th day of December 1994. She was the youngest child of Donna Taylor and Jason Stanley. Jessica was a miracle from the start; born four months premature, she came into the world determined to beat the odds as concerned doctors warned her family that due to her premature birth, the chance at a normal life was unlikely. Obviously she proved them wrong. She endured multiple surgeries and a few setbacks, but she was victorious every time.

She attended several elementary schools in Baltimore, where she wrote for the school newsletter and sang in the choir. She later graduated from Mother Mary Lange Catholic School in 2009. She then attended Towson High School where she founded her own club for Korean Pop fans. She later graduated in 2013. In 2015, Jessica began attending Stratford University where she studied Culinary Arts with a focus in Baking and Pastry.

Jessica was one of the purest souls that has ever walked this Earth. She was empathetic and lived righteously. She was a friend to the outcast and a lending ear to the down trodden. She was unwaveringly unique with a genuinely sweet disposition and an advocate for the rights of the oppressed. Jessica was a lover of the arts; Janelle Monae was one of her favorites. Though many are unaware, she was a singer and an exceptional writer. Jessica enjoyed spending time with her family and she was a firm believer in the power of love, peace and unity.

Jessica is survived by her parents Donna Taylor and Jason Stanley (Tammy); her siblings Terra Nore,(Donta), Jasmine Felton, Chris Felton; her grandparents Carole Morrison, James Taylor, Phyllis Stanley, Jerald Stanley (Clara Stanley); a niece and nephew, McKenzie and Dawson Nore; her uncles Scott Taylor, Brian Stanley (Kellye), and Marcus Stanley (Nicole); aunts Maureen Taylor and Karen Bostic, as well as a host of cousins and friends. Those who had the blessing of knowing Jessica were touched by her beautiful spirit. Her infectious smile and magnetic aura will forever be etched in our hearts. We'll be seeing you, baby girl.
