“ I miss you Mommy. I always picture you biting your lip when I try to get you to listen to my jokes. It makes me laugh. I thank you for working so hard to raise Shana and I and sacrificing so much for us. I remember nights that you fed us dinner and didn't feed yourself. I know you loved us very much. When I cut your grass I picture you standing there watching me to make sure I did it correctly. LOL. Mommy didn't play. I'm still trying to cook like you but still have a ways to go. I made you the promise of finding Shana and to do everything I could to help her. That promise has not been fulfilled yet but I will continue to try. You helped make me who I am and you did a great job. And would you have imagined it but Daddy came to your funeral.

Rest easy Mommy because I know where your soul is. Kiss Jesus for me and we shall see each other again.

*Love You Forever
Your Son

Was your Mother a social worker for the department of children's services in Baltimore, MD in the 1970's? I had a social worker with her name and she looks just like I remember her?
