REMEMBERING JOE

Mr. Joe Curbeam, son of the late Charlie Curbeam and Julia Robb were born on October 5, 1943, into an honorable union of siblings of which 7 preceded him by great welcome to heaven as he triumphs to eternal rest. In God's glory. A health issue came upon Joe's life unexpectedly causing him to be laid to rest. Joe received his education in South Carolina public schools at a young age. Joining Mt. Pilgrim Church & engaging in the baptism of the Holy Spirit was a godly adventure for him. With heartfelt desire. He was happy to fulfill the call of God by serving as a deacon in the house of the Lord. He had such a great passion for singing, and here's where he began to express his talent and gift to sing in the choir. In search of his career, Joe was inspired to become a brother and last uncle to his family.

The Two Became One

Joe married Beatrice Brice in 1963. In the state of Baltimore, Maryland, Out of their humble lineage; 6 children were born. Antonio Curbeam (1961-2001) Dwayne Curbeam, Angela Curbeam, Reginald Curbeam, Timothy Curbeam (1968-2004) Lamont Curbeam (1969-2005).

Dads Memoir

In 2005, Dad had a stroke and was placed in temporary assisted living to be assisted with his care. While abiding in vulnerable condition. On the road to recovery for healing breakthroughs and regaining of strengths. He allowed God to have his way. Through patience he began to behold a new life discovery through a new destiny of healing as he began to reach for Inspiration; by taking a new route to prayer. Desiring to defeat the enemy of health that was Tryna defeat him While maintaining his mental health, his words were; I'm not eating pork anymore; and all those red meats Angie gave me beets and vegetables. In 2010 Dad made a humble decision to move on to a new chapter of his life relocating to Atlanta, Georgia with his daughter Angela for approximately 2 yrs. His healing process helped him cultivate stronger decisions, becoming more opened a door granting him his heart's desire to move into Apostolic Faith Towers. This day became a part of the happiest day of his life, making new friends. He met Pastor Kent who invited him to become a part of the Apostolic Faith Church where he opened up service in song and scripture. Pastor Kent became his chaperone and best friend escorting him wherever he needed to go. The supermarket. Northeast market. And shopping at Foreman Mills. Look at God! Prayer spoke volumes to his journey of healing.

About Him

Joe was a very adventurous, kind, and thoughtful man who had many beautiful experiences in life. Entrepreneur of his own Wood Hauling Co. for many years

Dad was affectionately known as "Pappa Joe" to all his grandchildren "Uncle Joe" to all his nieces nephews. He loved God, glorifying him in everything preach delighting himself in Psalm 23 for courage. He made numerous friends wherever we went. Captivated everyone with his elaborate smile. Joyfully; he loved God's word. As a prayer warrior, he prayed and quoted scripture while singing gospel songs at 3:00 am., every morning. He made sure he was heard, declaring God's word throughout his building making no apologies. No matter where Dad went he would burst out loud with a song; loving the center of attention. People loved to hear him sing. He was a confident. Determined, and very energetic fighter to win over his health challenge in this life., always willing to make anything happen. He believed in making sure all his business was straight while eating roasted peanuts, snickers bars, and all that he loved stuffed in a walker., Goodies were everywhere. How about being a big fan of cooking southern - style foods, fishing Cabbage, and corn beef. Dad was the laugh of the day or fight of the night.

He enjoyed watching black and white movies in his favorite recliner.

His Passions

He loved playing the guitar which was the love of his life

Special Love for Grands

He had a special love for his Grands! He saved money for them for when they would come to see him (Lol) just cute.
