He was educated in the BCPS system and graduated from Mergenthaler Vocational-Technical High School.

John loved his strong family ties and his siblings, enjoying their company while young and continuing to reach out on a regular basis when they left home. He had a strong desire for Photography. Having a special interest in taking snapshots of his family and friends. Soon branching out to special occasions and events for others. He was well known as the "Camera Man". Growing up, his siblings called him the "Professor", always having an answer for everything.

Service, Vietnam Campaign medals, and Rifle Sharpshooter.

Upon his return from Vietnam, John explored employment that suited his outgoing personality. With a fondness for conversing and interacting with whomever he met. He especially liked exchanging ideas and conversations with varied opinions.

As a dedicated worker, he chose employment that afforded him the opportunity to provide exceptional service and to communicate with his customers. He explored Entrepreneurship in several areas: Banquet and Catering, Cobbling and Shoeshine, Home Improvement, and his passion...Photography.

He was preceded in death by his parents, four brothers, Richard, Joseph, Tyrone, Michael, and one sister, Frances, one cousin, James Boykins, one niece Donielle, and three nephews, Dewitt, Michael, and Frankeye. John leaves in mourning his last surviving sibling, Maria, who cared for him during his illness. “ My big brother John the professor that's what his siblings used to call him. All of my brothers protected me and John was no exception. We always kept in touch no matter what and I was grateful that he came to spend time with me and then to live with me. We had some good times here at the house watching movies and eating good food. I'm so glad we spent Christmas together and January 1st was when he went into the hospital. I still cry at times when I think about him. And I'm sure I'll be doing that for a while. I am truly missing him but I'm glad that I have the memories that we shared. Rest in peace big brother, Your little sister Maria.
