

Joyce White

March 13, 1947 - June 10, 2002

Joyce White, daughter of the late Arthur and Mary Makel was born on March 13, 1947 in Baltimore, Maryland. She departed this life on Monday, June 10, 2002. Joyce received her diploma from Carver Vocational High School (1965) with a concentration in cosmetology. She worked as a hair stylist until her employment with Lion Brothers Co. Inc. She was a loyal and dedicated worker, always willing to assist anyone. Joyce was employed for over 30 years leaving only to care for her husband. Joyce lived her life as a humanitarian and loyal servant of God. She used each day to learn from the Lord's word. Joyce accepted the Lord and Savior at an early age. She was a devoted Christian, always a cheerful spirit with a warm heart, motivating words and a radiant smile. We needn't forget her jovial laughter. She brought joy to all that she met, each life she touched and each friendship she cherished. Joyce attended St. Ambrose where she shared her time in the church as an Eucharistic minister, Al-Anon support sponsor, RCIA sponsor and constant prayer partner. Joyce met and married her childhood sweetheart and only true love. Edward A White (Butch) January 19, 1974. From this union their son, Christopher A. White was born. Butch and Chris were the center of Joyce's life. She loved her family as well as friends unconditionally. Her heart was simple and pure; this divinity was evident in every conversation and good deed. Like Christ, Joyce was always willing to give and sacrifice selflessly. Joyce loved to a degree that is seldomly obtained. Joyce leaves the following people to cherish her memory: her husband, Edward A. White; son,

Christopher A. White; brother, Arthur Makel Jr. Daughter-in-law, Lisa L. White; cousins, Donald Makel, Ruth Makel, Linea Makel; her very loving and supportive –in-laws, Margaret Thompson, Rhoda Nash, Maria Al-Amri and Michael Nash as well as, a host of other friends and family members

“ Healing happens slowly over weeks and months and years and even then, there will be days when memories call fresh tears. A song, a scent, or photograph keeps your heart in touch; with all that you so treasured in the one you miss so much.##imported-begin##The March Family and Staff##imported-end##
