

Kevin Broadnax

November 26, 1968 - September 8, 2021

KEVIN A. BROADNAX, son of the late Bernice Broadnax, was born on November 26, 1968 in Baltimore, Maryland. Kevin gained his wings on September 8, 2021.

He received his education in the Baltimore, Lancaster, and New York City public school systems. After living in New York for multiple years, Kevin moved back to Baltimore. He then gained employment with Baltimore City Public Works. Kevin found much joy working at his job. He often said, "I get paid to exercise!" Outside of work, Kevin was a writer, exercise fanatic, health-conscious, afro-centric, and a grill master. Kevin loved his family. With that love, he decided to go on a journey to help his family discover themselves (as he discovered himself). In doing this, he wrote several unpublished books for his family to study themselves. He changed many lives. Growing up he was known as Chabu. Once Kevin started rapping, he became known as MC Harmony. Kevin loved to have fun, talk to people, make you laugh, feed you, and tell funny stories. He will be sincerely missed by anyone who knew him. He was also a devoted friend and family man. This included loving up on his daughter Olivia and granddaughter Amirah.

Preceding Kevin in death were Bernice Broadnax (mother), Sandra K. Broadnax (sister), and Anthony Hunter (nephew).

Kevin leaves to cherish his memory: his daughter, Olivia; granddaughter Amirah; sisters, Cheryl (Leonard) Wall, Donna Broadnax, Lynn (Archie)

Broadnax-Tucker and Stephanie Broadnax; brother, Wally Broadnax; aunt, Gloria Nettles; uncle, Reddick Harrison; uncle, Moses Harrison; and aunt, May Robinson. He also leaves nieces, nephews, and a host of other relatives and friends.
