Larry was a long-time employee of Southern States Corporation and Lebanon Chemical Plant. Later in life, after his retirement, he thoroughly enjoyed working alongside his younger brother William with the completion of many high quality residential renovations in Baltimore, MD.

He was a kind and loving family man. Larry adored his children and grandchildren and especially enjoyed taking them shopping. He had a funny sense of humor and was very jovial. He took pride in fishing with his brothers and nephews along with his 1st cousin Avon Brunt. Larry taught his youngest daughter and oldest son how to fish at the age of 4. We enjoyed taking the boat out and crabbing and fishing in the Chesapeake Bay and down to the Eastern Shore. He loved and enjoyed spending quality time with his family on holidays and special occasions. He especially loved attending his brother William's Crab Feasts and Bull Roast.

He was a giver to all. He was the type of man that would give his coat if he saw someone who didn't have one on a cold day. Larry was a people person and was easy to get along with. He loved listening to music and had a large collection of records.
