“ Mom Lenora was an inspiration to so many. Over the past couple of days, I've been reflecting on the conversations she and I had, either in her living room or at church, and just how much I was in awe of her. The words she spoke were gentle, yet powerful; simple, yet profound; calm, yet provoking. It was nothing fake or phony about her -- everything about her was genuine. Titus 2:4 says, "Then they [older women] can train the younger women to love their husbands and children, to be self-controlled and pure, to be busy at home, to be kind, and to be subject to their husbands, so that no one will malign the word of God." Mom Lenora was a model for young women. She definitely fulfilled this verse. It is sad that we don't have more of that in the world. I could go on and on, but the point is that I have been blessed to know Mom Lenora. Her love and her legacy will continue to touch generations. I will miss her. “ I thank God for allowing me the privilege to have met and become friends with Ms. Lenora. Working with her when I did weddings was great. I will always remember her and cherish the fond and wonderful memories of the times we shared. I was out of town and was not able to attend the service but I have been told the service was simply wonderful and one she truly worked for. Continue to trust the Lord to carry you through this very difficult time. I will be praying for you and with you during this time of transition.###imported-begin###Rev. “ Please accept my sincere condolences for your loss. One day soon the bible promises that sickness and death will be no more. This is a wonderful hope that we all long for, and Rev 21,4 lets us know that Jehovah will one day wipe out every tear from our eyes and death will be no more." What a wonderful promise that is to look forward to, because death touches all of our lives sooner or later. One day, the dead will all be brought back to life in the resurrection of the dead. At John 11:25, Jesus promises, "I am the resurrection and the life. "Everyone exercising faith in me even though he dies, will come to life." May the comforting promise of the resurrection help you to cope at this time.##imported-begin##R Johnson##imported-end##
