

Lenwood Booker

May 2, 1916 - September 18, 2013

Lenwood Booker, the last of nine children of the late Joseph and Felina Booker to go be with The Lord.

Born May 2, 1916 in Meherrin, Virginia. Lenwood was called home on Wednesday, September 18, 2013 at the age of 97. Lenwood received his education in Meherrin, Virginia before relocating to Baltimore in 1934. In 1936 Lenwood began working at Bethlehem Steel where he worked for 41 years. In July of 1947 Lenwood married Saline Robinson Booker who preceded him in death along with their son Garry Booker.

Lenwood was a faithful member of Saint Paul Free Will Baptist Church until he was no longer able to attend. That's when St. Paul's Pastor Hayes and Holiday would visit him at 327 E. 22nd street to pray and have communion.

Lenwood loved fishing, sports, westerns, traveling, playing card, playing dominos, family, and watching the news. Anyone who knew Lenwood knew of his kindness and willingness to help others. He made an impact on all that encountered him. To know him was to love and never forget him.

Lenwood leaves to celebrate his life-

Granddaughter Nashika Booker, (Antione), five great grandchildren- Takiyah, Marquice, Essence, Giselle and Shamiia. Four great-great grandchildren-

Jamari, Jahel, Alauna, and Zae. His great niece Robin, great-great niece Maritta. Even though she was not his granddaughter, Lenwood loved Kamila, (Nashikas' sister) and her children as hi family. Little Bridget(as he affectionately called her) and her children, Joe Eggleston and family, Robert Booker and family, Lenny Gordon, and a host of family and friends.

“ This world just isn't the same without you in it. My heart still hurts. You were the last of the elders. I know you was tired. I selfishly wished you could have stayed with me forever. I miss you every day Grandpa.

“ After almost three years, I'm able to post here. It's still hard not to see you and talk to you. No more April's fool jokes on me and not ring able to hear you call me Cheek cheek. The pain is as fresh as it was that day and only God keeps giving me strength. I love you grandpa and will always have you with me.
