

Leonard Williams

March 12, 1950 - December 14, 2014

Leonard Williams, son of Elouise Virginia Williams and the late Benjamin Henry Williams, was born March 12, 1950 in Baltimore, Maryland.

In the sovereign mercy of our Lord, "Lenny" was called home December 14, 2014 after a lengthy illness.

Lenny attended Baltimore Public Schools and was very popular and well known in the neighborhood for his skill in ornithology. His skill in raising and training homing pigeons earned him the name "Bird".

After a turbulent adolescence; he enrolled in school and obtained a certificate in the craft of upholstery which highlighted his artistic abilities. Despite challenges in his health he managed to work at Fort Meade in culinary arts for over 34 years and retired from that Post.

Lenny heeded the call to Christ and attended church until his health would not allow him to continue.

He was a devoted son who was relentless in helping his mother in any way possible. He also loved his sisters and teased them without mercy and anyone else who would accept his trademark nicknames.

He is survived by his mother, Elouise V. Williams, his sisters, Shermaine (Huston) Robinson, Yvonne (Pierre) Moody and Kathleen Walker; two nephews, John H. James III and Anthony M. Walker; three nieces, Gail N. (Kenneth) Ellison, Tracey N. (Deric) Hayes, Keisha L. Walker; and a host of family and friends.
