“ To the dear Family of Letitia Demory:

We are so sorry to hear about Ms. Letitia. The death of a loved one is indeed distressing. The empty feeling, the loneliness, and the sense of loss are unfathomable. Bereavement can make a person feel helpless, for regardless of how much wealth, power, or influence he might possess, no one now on earth can restore a dead person to life. However, our Creator looks at matters differently. Having formed the first human from the dust of the ground, he is also able to re-create someone who have died. For this reason, God can view the dead as though they were alive. Regarding faithful servants of old who have died, Jesus said: “They are all living from [God’s] standpoint.” according to Luke 20:38.

I pray these promises will bring your family and friends comfort as well.

“ Dear Renae, My condolences go out to you and your family.

I was so sorry to hear of your mother's passing. But you know, God saw that it was time to end her suffering here on earth, so he took her to one of his heavenly places in heaven.

In his good book the Bible, God has said that in his house there are many mansions, and that he goes to prepare a place for us when our time here on earth is up.

So know that your Mom is in a heavenly place now, where there is no more suffering, but peace and blessedness with the Lord, which is the best place to be, once we leave our earthly lives behind.

Please know that you and your family are in my prayers.

Please also know that God is with you now and always.

With Love,

Ann J. Cotten
