October 11, 1921 - January 5, 2003

Lloyd Bernard Wilson, the son of the late Lyon Hokong Bailey and Jerome Bernard Bailey, Sr., was born on October 11, 1921 in Baltimore, Maryland. Educated in the Baltimore City Public School system, he remained a resident of Baltimore City until his passing. He was employed for many years Berkshire Corporation in Parkville, where he remained until his retirement. Lloyd was a man of simple means and simple tastes. He enjoyed a quiet life preferring the fellowship of family and friends. Lloyd was a good-natured person, full of life, and full of laughter. He was sometimes known as a prankster and always enjoyed a good laugh. Lloyd was an independent man, who was employed full-time well beyond the age of 70. He was fond of long walks and bus trips. He especially enjoyed relaxing in Atlantic City, where he visited frequently. Lloyd was an avid reader of many books but took particular delight in daily Bible reading. He also enjoyed an occasional debate on the subject of philosophy and psychology. On Sunday, January 5, 2003 after a brief illness, Lloyd departed this present life. He was preceded in death by his brother, Jerome Bernard Bailey, Jr.; and sister, Loretta E. Jones. He leaves to cherish his memory: one nephew, John L. Waters, Jr.; four nieces, Loretta E. Brown, Veronica Waters, Linda Rascoe and Brenda D. Jones-Jerome, all from Baltimore, Maryland; several cousins from Philadelphia, Pennsylvania; a dear and devoted friend, Catherine Jones, and godson, Nathaniel Jones, who was like a son, and a host of other relatives and friends

“ The tears that dampen our eyes in time of mourning are tears of homesickness, tears of longing for our loved ones. But it is we who are away from home, not they! Death has been for them a doorway to an eternal home. They are still with us, lovingly and tenderly waiting for the day when we, too, will enter the doorway of our eternal home. It is such a mistake to see death as separation and nothing more. For us who believe, death is a preparation for eternal union with those we love, in peace and in joy.##imported-begin##Brenda Royster & Family##imported-end##
