

Louise Booker

August 25, 1922 - February 9, 2023

Louise Anderson Booker one of eleven children born to Thomas Anderson and Luvenia Pyles Anderson on August 25, 1922 in Spartanburg, South Carolina.. She was educated in Spartanburg Public School System.

Louise was a meticulously well-organized homemaker. She loved to cook and was well known for her homemade sweet potato pies. Swing and line dancing, playing cards, joking around and attending cabarets were enjoyable activities for her.

After her youngest child was old enough to attend first grade, Louise was employed outside of the home as a factory worker for a short period of time. She was briefly employed as a maid and ended her career in an assembly line position in a local bakery.

Because Louise loved the Lord, she was an active member of Simmons Memorial Baptist Church in Baltimore, Maryland. She faithfully sang with the Early Morning Choir for many years.

After 61 years of marriage, Louise's husband ascended to the Lord in 2001. Five years later she decided to sell her home and move to Georgia to live with her oldest daughter.
