

Madora F. Weldon

March 14, 1957 - January 24, 2016

Madora Weldon began her journey on earth on March 14, 1957. Madora was born to the late Oswald Weldon and Louise J. Weldon in Fredricksburg, Virginia. Madora's journey on earth ended on January 24, 2016.

"Madora", "Dora", or "Mama Madora", as she was affectionately known, was educated in Baltimore City Schools where she later graduated from Edmondson High School. She continued her education at Sojourner Douglas College, where she took an interest in the area of Social Work. Madora was very ambitious to improve the quality of life for others, especially children.

Mama Madora was not only a remarkable mother to her three children but to host of other children as well. One in particular, Jason Baughman, preceded her in death. Mama's unconditional love motivated her to become a mentor to many children as well as a surrogate mother to many of her children's friends. Her method of caring for children included, but wasn't limited to, a word of advice, a meal, and a shoulder to cry on; all of which was a part of her natural personality.

Mama Madora leaves to mourn: her mother, Louise J. Weldon; her three children, Tayla Weldon, Kateri Weldon, and Brandi Weldon-Witherspoon; her two sons-in-law, James Collins and Levar Witherspoon; grandchildren, Rohon Weldon-Witherspoon, Kya Mitchell, Levar Witherspoon Jr., Royce Collins, Jalin, Caitlin, Kerrin and Ryhlin Collins. Mama Madora adopted so many children that their children became her grandchildren as well, Natalys, Sparkle, Yasmine, Fred III, Zion, Mikal, Corey, Patients, Demond Jr., Akil, Jamil, Kyle, Deontrey, Corie, Derick Jr. and Courtney. She also leaves to mourn her two life long friends, Noble Matthews and Kevin Clark; and a host of other extended surrogate children, family and friends.

Madora will truly be missed by all who she touched in her time.
