

Mamie Elizabeth Robinson

February 20, 1921 - December 21, 2001

MAMIE ELIZABETH ROBINSON, daughter of the late Robert Jones, Sr. and Lillie Keith Sims, departed this life on Friday evening, December 21, 2001 after a lengthy illness at Stella Maris Mercy Hospital. She was born on February 20, 1921 in Wake County, North Carolina. She received her education in the Franklin County Public Schools. At twelve years old, she accepted Christ and joined the Greenfield Baptist Church in Creedmore, North Carolina. Later in life, she moved to Baltimore, where she joined Mt. Airy Baptist Church under the direction of Bishop Leroy McRacy. She later joined Mt. Hattin Baptist Church in 1987, where she served faithfully until her sickness permitted her from regular attendance. She was a family woman, always willing to help out wherever she was needed. She had one child, James Edward Parrish, who preceded her in death. She leaves to cherish her memory: one grandson of the home, James Jones of Baltimore, MD; one brother, Robert W. Jones of Durham, NC; one sister, Lillie Mae Harris of Baltimore, MD, six grandchildren, James Parrish, Jr., Doreen Parrish, Theresa Parrish, James Jones, Kiffency Parrish and Terrell Parrish; thirteen great-grandchildren, six great-great-grandchildren, twelve nieces, five nephews; one daughter-in-law, Helen Parrish; one sister-in-law, Jannie Jones; a host of other relatives and friends. From Maurice You were my mother and my father. You were my all that I needed to make it and now I must do it alone, but I have you in my heart to continue to make it. It hurts that your gone, but it's better not to suffer like you did. A piece of my heart is missing, so I am going to use your memory to fill that side of me that's missing, my mother. I love you.
