August 28, 1931 - March 14, 2019

Mamie Beatrice Young Mack, the daughter of the late Howard Young and Ruby Beasley-Young was born in Baltimore, Maryland on August 28, 1931. Mamie was the youngest daughter of seven siblings: Bertha, Toni, Virginia, Howard, Charles and George Young who all preceded her in death.

Mamie was educated in Baltimore until she moved to New York where she met, fell in love and married Earl Mack Sr. who preceded her in death. From this union were born six children: Earl Jr., Howard, James and Johnny Mack (who preceded her in death), Delores and Robert.

Mamie was a housewife for many years spending most of her life loving and taking care of her children, family and friends. She came to know Christ at an early age and lived out her faith serving, caring and sharing with others. Mamie loved hosting dinner parties for her family and friends. She always loved going to church, praising God and fellowshiping. She enjoyed talking to anyone, getting out and enjoying all sorts of activities and celebrations and having an enjoyable time. Everyone who knew her loved her! Mamie loved everyone and gave from her heart.

In 2016, Mamie would come to make Future Care Good Samaritan her beloved home. There she had numerous friends, enjoyed wonderful fun activities, local outings, church services and volunteering. She loved living there. In 2017 she was surprised and crowned Ms. Future Care. On March 14th after a brief illness, she was welcomed into God's Kingdom. Hallelujah! We know she is rejoicing!
