

Maria Anita Green

January 16, 1957 - August 15, 2002

Maria Anita Green, loving daughter of Sarah Jane Commodore and Stanley Green, was born January 16, 1957. She departed from this earth on Thursday, August 15, 2002 after enduring the difficulties of cancer. She was baptized on July 17, 2002, giving her life to Jesus Christ as she went in under God's living waters of a local beach. Maria Green (known to many as Tiny) was a devoted mother of two children-Pascal and Donyea Green. Much like her mother, she devoted her life to raising her children in a loving and proudly fashion. Tiny graduated from Southwestern High School with honors. She believed that education is important and often expressed that to her children. Although she only had two sons, she shared her loving heart with open arms to many. Her hobbies included arts and craft projects, such as sewing, cross stitch, jigsaw puzzles and coloring. Even in her days of illness, she would still color in her coloring books and make baby blankets. In addition to her sons, she leaves behind; longtime friend of twenty-five years, Owen Keith, who was often by her side when true friendships meant the most; her father, Stanley Green; sister, Doretha Green; brother, Wallace Timothy Sampson; grandsons, Cameron Green and Donyea Green Jr.; aunts, Irene Towns and Mary Talbert; uncle, Joseph Green; and a host of cousins, nieces, nephews, in-laws and numerous friends.
