Marshall C. Williams was born on May 28, 1977, to the late Melvin Day and Janet Bailey. He departed this earth suddenly on May 23, 2022.

Marshall received his education through the Baltimore City Public Schools System.

In 2010 Marshall met Kiffiney whom he later married in 2011 and through this union they came together to help each other raise nine children. Marshall really loved his wife, there wasn't anything he wouldn't do for her. He also loved spending time with his family, especially his nieces and nephews.

To know Marshall was to love him. Having a grandmother as a Bishop, Marshall accepted Christ at a very young age.

Marshall couldn't sing, dance, or play any kind of sports, but he knew how to make you laugh. He also knew how to take care of animals. He had birds, dogs, even lizards You name it he had it.

Marshall would always make friends wherever he went. You would hear him saying "What's up soldier?"

Followed by "I'm making it baby!" or "Hey! I come in peace."

Marshall's presence is going to be missed by all that loved him.

“ I remember when my oldest daughter was a baby, Marshall use to get her often and he would take her to Miss Eddy's basement store and buy her big bags of penny candy. I would ask him (boy why did u buy her all of that candy?) And his response would always be the same "cause that's my baby and she wanted it". Marshall, U were one of the most humble ppl I new Brother in law and u will truly be missed, I'm still trying to come to grips with u being gone it is so unbelievable, I just saw u the week before and laughed and joked, I just don't believe it. Love brother sleep peacefully.

“ Our Years at Robert W. Coleman were the best funniest years of our life. Marshall was the kind of kid growing up with a very kind and humble heart that made you laugh. As I ran into him several times throughout baltimore City his spirit never changed and his smile was always the same. Marshall always had a kind word and a big hello when we talked in quick passing. He never changed.....I will always remember him as being that kind friend from my childhood throughout adulthood. Sending our heartfelt condolences and deepest Sympathy to our childhood friend. Earth loss good kindhearted human being but heaven gained an Angel.

RIP Marshall you will be Missed
