“ To my loving and caring sister Mary I miss your cooking your embrace and how we use to pray together. Sometimes I look at on the side of my bed and realize you'll no longer there She's gone. And than my eyes fill with water start to run. I ask God why. He said She's with me now rejoicing celebrating life like she never know. My eyes begin to weep with joy. But that still don't stop me from missing you. But it do let me know one thing. God is real and he's still on the throne. And he truly knows what best for us Eben in sorrow. Until we meet again .KISSES to you. Love your sister Elizabeth. O promise you I'll stay strong. Love you all for always

“ ” To the family of Mary Randolph
Her nickname to me is, "Ladybug". I fell like I am a part of your family. Mary and my office where side by side. She would faithfully read and have her bible devotions every morning at work. I am going to miss her positive advice in every situation she we would encounter. She would play music while doing her work and she and I would be the oldies but goodies back up singers. Neither of us could carry a tune. We would always talk about that good old Southern cooking until one day I baked a pound cake from scratch, she fell in loved with and I gave her the recipe. I will not forget her farewell phone call to me, Thursday night (I knew then, she was ready). I will continue to miss her, but I have precious memories that I will always cherish. I thank you and God for sharing her in my life. I know it is hard, but Mary is resting peacefully. Love you, Mary

“ My dearest friend Mary,
I'm still trying my best to keep it together and I knew that you was really ready to go because when you called me on last Thursday October 17th at 7:27pm to tell me how much you loved me for being such a good friend, a sister, and someone you could always call to talk to. And how much you just appreciated me and then came the news that you wanted to share with me, speaks volume to me and let me know right then and there that I must have left such a great impact on your life for you to call me to share your news from your doctor. “Farewell, my friend. It was beautiful As long as it lasted, The journey of your life.” Like the last text that I got from you that you love me and until we meet again SMOOCHES... Mary, RIP my beautiful sistah and thank you for allowing me to be your friend for 21 year and in your sisterhood circle. To the family of Mary Lee Randolph, please accept my prayers and condolences.

Love,
