

Maxie Franklin

February 2, 1950 - September 29, 2005

No obituary found for this tribute.

Tribute Wall

“ Maxie Franklin

March 25, 2023 at 10:25 AM

“ Maxie Franklin

October 13, 2022 at 08:33 AM

“ I would like to send my condolences at a time of much heartache and grief. I pray that the comfort of God will bring the healing to all those affected over this lost. How blessed we all are to know despite the painful effects of death our God Jehovah have promised a relief from our enemy death. Rev. 21:3-4 states death will no longer exist and will no longer cause mourning nor out cry or pain anymore. He say's death will be swallowed up according to Is. 25:8-9. However Jehovah's greatest promise he say's, the dead will live again according to Is. 26:19. That is truly a wonderful hope. Our very loved ones lost to death will live again. Yes their state is temporary like a sleep.##imported-begin##Carter##imported-end##

July 02, 2010 at 02:21 PM

“ It has bben a lot of things that i need to talk to you about it has been times that I was lonely and needed a friend to listen to my cries. but you could not be found. I looked high and low for you. when I found you I had a lot to say to you but being excited I just wanted to be around you. I didnt want to break the peace and lose you again never ever being able to know you. Well we got involved in each other life I met you brothers sisters other sons and even your wife When I looked at you I saw myself and became afraid of what I seen. I stayed away because the reflection became to great it had nothing do with my feelings for you it had a lot to do with the way I felt about me. I had to accept that you was not perfect and neither will I be. I just have found this out but now it is too late I wish that I colud tell you these things face to face but this is now the only way that you can hear me. rest in peace love your son Maxie
3rd###imported-begin##Maxie Franklin 3rd###imported-end##

July 02, 2010 at 02:21 PM