“ I have two pencils that Mozelle gave me--one with her name on it--that have traveled from City office to City office with me, a reminder of someone with whom I truly enjoyed working and who taught me things about graphics that have helped me in both my public and private employment. I was using one of those pencils today and decided to look her up. "Obituary" was the last thing I expected to see. I am deeply shocked and saddened that this vibrant, quirky, funny, talented woman is no longer with us. I will always treasure that pencil and my memories of Mozelle. My deepest condolences to her family and friends.

“ There is no one in this world like my mother-she was the most creative person I have ever known. She was head strong, determined and always found a way. She made it through so many adversities and just kept on going. Even though she has been sick, I just never expected her to be gone so soon. I love her with all my heart and soul and every one in her life she touched in some loving way. Her friends were life long friends-I was raised by just about everyone who knew her. Mom mom is with the angels and she is at peace. Melissia

“ I have so many memories of time spent at Ms. Mozelle's. I can't remember one Saturday that Melissa and I were not together every since we met in high school and a lot of that time was at her mom's house. Even in high school there were very few places that I was allowed to go: my own house, my grandmother's and Ms. Mozelle's.

This is because my mother knew I would be supervised, would receive a good meal if I was spending the night, and that there would be NO boys there - lol. Hers was the only house I was ever allowed to sleep over. Ms. Mozelle had a way of keeping you in check with just a look; too the point that you had to think "wait did I do something that she is going to yell at me about?" She also had a dry sense of humor that would crack Melissa and I up.

I remember vividly how creative she was. She could decorate a christmas tree better than any professional. Year after year I have tried to decorate my tree so that it looks even all around and I never come close to what Ms. Mozelle would do. She is also the reason that I love power point presentations and designing marketing pieces so much. She was a graphics artist, writer, and visual artist. I have to say that she had just as much influence over the person that I have become as my own mother and father did and I will always treasure the time I spent around her.
