

Nell Virginia Jackson

January 23, 1939 - July 7, 2009

NELL VIRGINIA (HOWARD) JACKSON, daughter of the late Ella (Willis) Jackson and Vernell Howard, was born on January 23, 1939 in Hopewell, Virginia. On Saturday, July 4, 2009 Nell departed this life at Sinai Hospital after a lengthy illness. Nell was educated in the Hopewell, Virginia Public School System. Nell met and married the late William Jackson. Later she moved to Baltimore City, then to Jersey City, where she worked and retired from Clorox Bleach Company. Nell later moved back to Baltimore City, where she decided to remain as her home. Nell was independent, loved family gatherings, and spending quality time with her grandchildren. Nell was a wonderful cook and many people looked forward to her get-togethers (going to miss that good down home cooking). She had a loving spirit and will be missed by all. She leaves to mourn: two sons, Dexter Jackson and Robert Farmer; one daughter, Angela Jackson; one sister, Mary Collins (Vergie Freeman and Ella Baker preceded her in death); one brother, Welton Howard; granddaughters, Jasmien Jackson, Meleaka Jackson and Nigel Ross; one great-granddaughter, Janiya Wyatt; daughter-in-law, Debra Jackson (late brother-in-law, Aubrey Jackson and late mother-in-law, Eleanor Jackson); two sisters-in-law, Evelyn Burrow and Christine Jackson; devoted friend, Patricia Marble; a host of other relatives and friends.

Tribute Wall

“ Nell Virginia Jackson

October 13, 2022 at 08:33 AM

“ i know there is no way to make this time any easier but i know your mom and gramma is in a better place, she was a great women, and will be greatly missed!!!##imported-begin##christine brandon##imported-end##

July 02, 2010 at 02:21 PM

Thanks so much Christine and yes she will be very missed.

Angela Jackson - February 04, 2013 at 11:41 AM