“ To the Saunders family, I offer my deepest condolences, and warm wishes for a happy future. I didn't have the pleasure of knowing Dr. Saunders, but he was my spiritual brother, and I look forward to meeting him in Jehovah's paradise. Reading his obituary, he seemed to be a wonderful man who accomplished so much in his lifetime. I can imagine how much he touched the lives of others, and I know how much he will be missed. Unfortunately, our enemy, death, continues to stalk all of us. 1st Cor 15:26. But I also know that Jehovah God has the power over death, and he can loose us from the bonds of death, because he is the God of all salvation. Whenever you are feeling sad family, keep this scripture in mind found at Isiah 66:13: "Just like a man whom his own mother keeps comforting, so I myself shall keep comforting you people. May Jehovah God comfort and strengthen you all to carry on until that glorious day of salvation will come about. What a joyous day it will be, when our loved ones come to life once again. Take care family.##imported-begin##R Johnson##imported-end##

“ Our deepest condolences and heartfelt sympathies for the family of Dr. Saunders. Not only the family and friends of Oakley have suffered a great loss, but also the poor and deprived citizens of Baltimore have also lost a caring and compassionate physician. Dr. Saunders will be greatly missed by all those whom he had come in contact with during his professional career in this city and elsewhere in this nation when he served on the staff of the Joint Commission of Accreditation of Hospitals and made inspection visits to assess the quality of care at hospitals spread out all over this country.##imported-begin##C. “ Please accept my condolences for the loss of your loved one. The Bible teaches about a future time when all those in the memorial tombs will come out by means of a resurrection (John5:28-29) to life on a paradise earth (Psalm37:11,29). May you find comfort in God and the many wonderful promises found in his word the Bible because Titus 1:2 assures us that he cannot die.##imported-begin##C. Murphy##imported-end##

“ Oakley and I were friends growing up. He became a doctor after I moved to New York and had a son who, at a young age though tested in the extreme I.Q. range, was not performing accordingly. I brought him to see Dr. Saunders, who after a complete work up, diagnosed him as having a learning disability. I was eternally grateful to him for that. He was then and remained, a man ahead of his time. He will be missed by all.##imported-begin##Frances Watkins##imported-end##

“ I grew up on Forest Park Ave, one block over from Dr. Saunders's home. He was a mentor & suggested that I pursue an advanced degree, in addition to my primary training. It was great advice & I am very happy that I followed it. Goodbye Oakley. Wendell Jones MD MBA##imported-begin##Wendell & Angela Jones##imported-end##

“ We last visited with Oakley for about an hour or two outside of the Safeway supermarket in the Ingleside Shopping Center. We solved some of the world's problems before listening intently as he shared his plans to move to Virginia near his Aunt. After exchanging "best gardening practices" we hugged lovingly and planned to visit after he settled in. We will sorely miss our long time family friend, our professional colleague, and our children's pediatrician.##imported-begin##Rev. George and Betty Merrill##imported-end##
