“ I worked with Peggy for many years at Westbrook. We continued to be friends, it makes me so sad how rough the few years of her life were.

Those last few she in no way deserved. Some of her choice some not. These few years we live on this planet can be glorious and or tortuous. The loss of her being here may not be a loss at all, as she was laid in her casket she had a look that exuded peace, that there was no more burden, as I looked upon her I both smile and had tears of joy because nothing in this world could ever hurt her again.
