

Phyfilex Lewis Pride

December 26, 1946 - November 9, 2017

FELIX LEWIS PRIDE was born on December 27, 1946 in Baltimore, Maryland. After a lengthy illness, he was called home on Thursday, November 9, 2017.

The oldest of nine siblings, Felix was the son of the late Dorothy Creighton and Eddie Pride. He was raised in the church by his loving mother, an evangelist who nurtured faith and fortitude in him.

Felix graduated from Morgan State University in 1969 with a degree in Psychology, which he put to good use throughout his life as a confidant, motivator, and charmer. He went on to become a successful salesman who rose through the ranks at Exxon Office Systems, where he earned Branch Manager of the Year and was rewarded with numerous accolades.

He would say that one of his greatest achievements was being a father to his three daughters and Pop Pop to his granddaughter. Throughout their lives, he instilled in them that they could do whatever they put their minds to. Some of his daughters' fondest memories are eating good food (he especially loved meals prepared by his daughter Diarra), cracking jokes, and watching movies together.

After a long courtship, Felix proudly married his best friend, Angela Smith, who in his eyes, helped him to become a better man who put family first.

Felix left an impression on everyone he met. Whether it was his hearty laugh or signature greeting, he knew how to make people feel special. He was always willing to offer an inspirational word to loved ones and strangers alike. That's probably because even though he experienced many ups and downs in his life, his faith in God remained.

Felix is survived by: his wife, Angela; daughters, Fellina, Felicia and Diarra; granddaughter, Brynn; sisters, Geraldine and Darlene; ex-wife, Annie; as well as other relatives and friends.

Felix made certain that you would never forget him and for that, his family is forever grateful.
