“ Mr Jones, what can be said...you were a force in this world and i know you are somewhere enjoying a loud and wonderful marching band. You will be greatly missed by your barber shop family and by deeply missed by the Greene family. Ill miss your “sh-cuts” and your presence in the community. You are loved.

“ Mr. Raynard Jones was an amazing teacher and friend. Mr. Jones worked over 40 years as a teacher, department chair, lead teacher and a host of many positions throughout his career. Mr. Jones bought his unique sensibility and flare for storytelling to his health classroom. Though never married and no children (except for me, Corrie Hamlett, his "adopted" step daughter)he will be sorely missed by his close friends,colleagues, and students. I love you Mr. Jones and your cupcake misses you.

I remember Dr Jones as one of my more memorable instructor/educator. He had a commanding presence . I remember him embarrassing me in the cafeteria one day ... it was quite funny of the loudspeaker ordered me to find a seat and stop flirting with the boys! I smiled ... I wasn't flirting. He always gave good advice.

Raynard was a dear friend. We met in 1981 when I was transferred to Fairmount-Hill High School. Our teaching experience and friendship continued when Fairmount-Hill closed and the school moved to Fairmount-Harford High School.

Raynard had a lively spirit. He loved telling stories, always beginning them by saying, "Now, this is a true story". That was an indication he was making it up. He always had you laughing from these stories because they were always so ridiculous. I will miss my 40 year friendship with him. Rest well, Raynard. You lived your life to the fullest and your way.
