

Ronald N. Gervin

January 23, 1983 - November 26, 2005

RONALD N. GERVIN, JR., only child of Cynthia Z. Walker and son of Ronald Gervin, Sr., was born January 23, 1983 in Baltimore, Maryland, where he received his education in Baltimore City public schools. He departed us on the day of November 26, 2005. Ronald (a.k.a. Ron) was a kind and loving person who respected his elders. Ron was the type of person who liked free styling rap music and did a little carpentry work with helping others from time to time. He had a best friend who he confided in known as Little Ricky. Ron leaves to mourn: three sisters, Keona, Daquita, and Elantra; one younger brother, Nijai Gervin; four aunts, Carlotta, Pamela, Louise, and Phyllis; seven uncles, David, William, John, Marvin, Steve, Darryl and Sammy; grandmother, Josephine Gervin; grandfather, James A. Rice; and a host of cousins, other relatives and friends. He was preceded in death by two uncles, Reginald Walker and Donald Gervin; grandmother, Juanita Walker and grandfather, Henry Gervin.

“ My family and I offer our sincere sympathy to the family and friends of Ronald. It is truly unfortunate that at times we must experience the sorrow associated with the loss of one we love. During times such as these, we have found comfort from, "the God of all comfort" who provides us with the resurrection hope spoken of at Acts 24:15 and John 5:28,29. May you also find comfort from this hope. ##imported-begin##G. Winston##imported-end##

“ It's such a tragedy when we lose a loved one in death, especially one so young. The hope of the resurrection can really comfort us during these times of grief. Rev. 21;3,4 says that God will wipe out every tear from our eyes and death will be no more. I hope the scriptures bring you the comfort you need at this time. My prayers are with you.##imported-begin##Rita Johnson##imported-end##
