“ Please accept my deepest sympathies. May you find comfort in the Holy Scriptures, your family and friends.

We can understand the pain and sense of loss can be severe when it comes to losing a dear love one. Even in the face of a personal loss, we can be confident that God is not unrighteous. Psalms 145:16-19 says “You (God) open your hand and satisfy the desire of every living thing. Jehovah is righteous in all his ways and loyal in all that he does. Jehovah is near to all those calling on him. To all who call on him in truth. He satisfies the desire of those who fear him, He hears their cry for help, and he rescues them.”

When we lack sufficient strength to bear the death of a love one, God will up hold you. God will continue to give you support as you turn to him in prayer. You are never alone. You can always turn to the Holy Bible for comfort as you read the scriptures. Recovering from grief may take months, a few years, or even longer. Just remember the acute pain you feel in the beginning will lessen in time and life will gradually seem less bleak and meaningless. There is an empty space where before there was a living human. Cry as long as you need to, repressing your grief can be harmful mentally, emotionally, and physically. Like a suffocating envelopment - a blanket - death can weigh heavily on mankind.

The bible clears up any questions we might have about death. Our love ones are not suffering. But you may still wonder, why would a God of love allow our love one to die? First we need to know how suffering got started. God has made provision to end all suffering and death. God can and will undo all the harm that came upon you and your family. God is not the one who is causing the suffering of our love one but by means of Jesus Christ, God will raise the dead, heal obedient ones of all their illnesses, root out every trace of sin, and even cause former grief to fade from our mind. Isaiah 65:17 “For I am creating new heavens and a new Earth, and the former things will not be called to mind, nor will they come up into the heart.” The suffering you experience today will not be called to mind. How do you feel about that?

May Jehovah God give you peace of mind and comfort.
