

Ruby Mae Harris

June 21, 1920 - October 10, 2004

Ruby Mae Harris was the first born of James Edward and Willie Maude Sanders in Baltimore, Maryland. Her sisters, Margaret Courtney and Alease West preceded her in death. Ruby attended Baltimore public schools and attended a local business school after graduation. She worked as an administrator for the Social Security Administration for many years until she retired. Ruby married Clarence Otis Harris in 1956. No children were born to this union; however, nieces and nephews love to be in her presence. She joined T. Matthews United Methodist Church, now Waverly United Methodist Church, at a young age where she was a member until her death. Ruby loved to entertain her family and friends. She enjoyed cooking and tending to her plants. Her illness slowed her down considerably, but she always "fine" even when she felt bad. She never complained. Ruby left these loving thoughts when her sister, Margaret passed away. Ruby leaves to mourn her loss: nieces, Ruby Turner (Samuel), Yvonne Swain (John), Bonderia Cunningham (Cleveland), Gladys Mae French, Jr., Wilbert French, cousins, Betty Burnwell (Edward) Andrey Brown, Carolyn Thornton, Melvina Jackson, Lillian Bates, and a host of other relatives and friends.
