

Ruth Mamie James

January 7, 1929 - July 2, 2003

Born in Wilmington, North Carolina, Ruth Mamie James, was the daughter of the late Reuben and Mamie James. She departed this life on July 2, 2003. A product of Baltimore City public schools, she graduated from Douglas High School in 1948, and Coppin State College in 1952. She received her Master's degree from Morgan State University. She taught elementary education in the City Public School System for approximately thirty years before retiring in 1980. Ruth was committed and dedicated to her profession. She always went that extra mile to provide additional experiences for her children. She organized the first Girl Scout Troop at her school and worked with the Girl Scouts for many years. She would teach a group of children how to knit for an hour before her regular classes began. Her children were truly excited and eager to arrive early for that class. She leaves to cherish her memory, a brother, Jerald Stanley and his wife, Clara of Virginia Beach, Virginia; two godchildren, Calvin Scarborough and Kathi Trelor; three aunts, Bertha Formey of Wilmington, and Geneva Gilyard and Leena Stanley of Chicago, Illinois; and uncle, James Scarborough of Baltimore; three nephews, Brian, Jason and Marcus; two nieces, Jodi and Nicole; a special and devoted cousin, Clifton McIntosh; devoted friends, Catherine Green and Rev. & Mrs. Jones; and a host of great nieces and nephews, cousins, other relatives and dear friends.
