

Sammy Hayes

November 25, 1933 - July 12, 2011

SAMMY HAYES, (also as known as “Nitty”) son of the late Sam Hayes and Ruth Hayes, was born on November 25, 1933 in Chester, South Carolina. God came to get him on July 12, 2011 so that he could rest peacefully absent struggle or pain until God calls him up again.

Sammy Hayes was baptized at Lincolnton Baptist Church. He was the only boy of four siblings. His late siblings are Ella -Mae, Carrie and Sidney.

Sammy Hayes was educated in the public school system in Chester, South Carolina. He moved to Baltimore, Maryland and became a full time employee at Tom Key Aluminum. He then met and married Frances Werrell and out of this union two girls were born, Gwendolyn and Valencia.

He was very private, no-nonsense person; however, he was loving and friendly in his own way. His favorite meal Kentucky Fried Chicken, mac and cheese, mashed potatoes with gravy and biscuits. He enjoyed cooking corn beef hash with scrambled eggs. He adored and loved his late K-9 German Shepherd, Caesar.

Sammy Hayes was a colon cancer survivor. He was diagnosed and it was successfully removed with no reoccurrence or additional problems in 2009. Sammy Hayes always had wise words for his grandchildren... mainly his grandson Cedric Jr. (Daddy nickname him Boo-boo). He often told Cedric Jr, “Boo-boo, don't be sold on the very first one, take your time picking your wife and don't buy them girls nothing!” His words to Dymond and Stacy (who he called Tracy) were, “stay in school, listen to your mother and be good girls.”

“Nitty” leaves: a wife , Frances; two daughters, Gwendolyn and Valencia; two sons-in-law, Cedric and Ronnie ; three grandchildren, Cedric Jr., Dymond and Stacy; great-grandson; Jeremiah; his aunt, Mamie; his special doctor and friend; Mr Byron N. Baldwin; and a host of cousins, nieces, nephews, in-law, and friends.
