

Sarah F. Howard

September 11, 1914 - January 9, 2006

Sarah Frances Howard was born on September 11, 1914 in Cheraw, South Carolina. The oldest daughter of the late John Henry McQueen-Bey and Mattie Mae McQueen-Bey. She was just a teen when her family moved to Baltimore, MD, where she attended Baltimore City Public Schools. The family later moved to Earleigh Heights in Severna Park, MD, where she lived to reach a great age of 91. Sarah or Frances as some called her, loved animals, flowers, and music. Especially the Blues, which you could hear coming up the street at times. She also enjoyed spending time with her family. Sarah worked hard as a domestic worker and caregiver, caring for more than just her own children. Sarah is survived by one brother, John E. McQueen-Bey of Severna Park, husband, James Howard of Baltimore, MD; two daughters, Nora D. Henson and Deneen F. Bias; nine grandchildren including her caregiver René Williams twenty-three great-grandchildren, ten great-great grandchildren and a host of Foster Children, nieces, and nephews, she was loved by most.
