

Scott Finklea

June 6, 1969 - January 16, 2015

SCOTT MICHEAL FINKLEA, SR was born to Charlotte and Ernest Finklea on June 6, 1969 in Anchorage, Alaska and departed this world on January 16, 2015 in Bronx, New York. He was preceded in death by his father Ernest and his grandparents Corrine Dunlap and Robert Besue and Robert and Lillian Wilson. Scott is survived by his mother, Charlotte Finklea; siblings Allen(Leila), Lisa, Steven, Renee, and Bobby Finklea; children Angelica and Scott Finklea, Jr. and his grandson Chauncey Williams.

Scott, the youngest of six children, had an infectious laugh and a sense of humor that brightened even the cloudiest of days. He was charismatic, strong willed and a light hearted, generous person who went out of his way to help those in need. Scott always spoke with undeniable love about his mom, his daughter and son, Angelica and Scott, Jr. and his grandson Chauncey. They was his world. Scott worked as a dispatcher for El Barrio's car service in New York City, a job he truly enjoyed. He was also an avid and quite impressive artist. Scott will truly be missed by his family, friends, co-workers and those he helped along the way.

If he lived and worked in Bronx, NY why is he buried in Baltimore, MD? Am trying to recall if it was Lisa or Renee whom lived in Reisterstown, MD.

“ How awful it is to lose a child. One minute I'm okay then I'm upset again. I wish I could stop worrying about you. What better hands could you be in than Gods. I want these feelings to stop. I keep thinking that you're in need of me. I can only pray for you and I have and I will continue. I feel awful knowing I can't reach out to you. I feel one year ago today, you may have been suffering and that maybe the reason this day is so hard for me. If you knew you were sick, I wish you had talked to me about it, at least I would have been prepared, for this awful time. Without you, my family is incomplete. I love you so much Scott. I pray you find peace and know that your family love and misses you. Rest easy Scott. You will always be in my heart. Mommy

“ When Scott was a little boy. I helped him with his numbers. He had a lot of trouble with the number three (3) for some reason he just didn't get it. One day he came to me with a piece of paper telling me to look. Again I told him it wasn't the right way. Handing him back the paper he looked at it and gave it back to me. The number looked like it had fallen down horizontal. He turned the paper around in my hand and smiled. I really had to smile also. The only way he could make the number three (3) was to draw it like a human bottom, and turn the paper around. ha, ha, ha, ha, ha, ha, ha, My beautiful little boy knew what he was doing all the time. He always had his own solutions for everything. I love you Scott

“ I know you should have a blue candle for men but this yellow candle represents the Sunshine you put in my life when ever I heard you call me Mommy. Your voice made that one word seem so much more than it was. Even though we didn't speak everyday, I miss you. I keep asking myself is he really gone, has someone made an awful mistake. How can I be here without you. This hurts so much. I don't know why you had to leave so soon. Maybe you were only suppose to be here for this short time. I wish I could understand. I love you Scott. I thank God that he chose me to be your Mother
