

Shawn E. Chestnut

January 7, 1980 - March 23, 2003

Shawn Edward Chestnut was born on January 7, 1980 to Edward Lawrence and the late Terry Jean Chestnut. Unfortunately, Terry preceded him in death, and he migrated to Queens, New York to be raised by his grandparents, Lee P. and Lucille E. O'Neil. He was called home to be with his mother on March 23, 2003. Shawn began his education at Public School # 55, and continued to Elizabeth Blackwell Junior High School. He completed his formal education at Hillcrest High School, in Queens, New York. Shawn of "BAM" as his peers lovingly knew him was always known as a free spirited, energetic, and jovial individual. He possessed a charisma and nonchalance that made him the favorite of many. He loved to laugh, and was not satisfied until he made someone laugh with him. He and his brother often quarreled as children because he loved to play and sometimes didn't know when to stop. He treated his older brother as if he himself were the oldest, often making the comment "be easy little bro." Anytime someone saw him he wore a smile. At a young age he developed a passion for music. Rap music most preferably. He had recorded several CD's before his demise, and was in the process of creating a main stream CD to be released on a major label. Shawn loved music. If he wasn't in the recording studio putting in long hours, he was constantly engrossed in his journal writing new songs. Shawn also loved his family immensely both immediate and extended. He grandparents, Lee and Lucille, his brother, Charles, his aunt, Shamea and his three children, Shakim, Shadon and Keyshawna were always his first concern. He leaves to mourn his grandparents, Lee P. and Lucille O'Neil; three children, Shakim, Shadon and Keyshawna; father, Lawrence Edward Chestnut; brother, Charles; his aunt, Shamea; grandmother, Jean Gambrill; four sisters, Kia, Tasha, Tabitha, and Jeanquie; aunt Celeste, four granduncles, three grand aunts, a host of cousins, relatives, a beloved friend, Carlene Steele and friends who share their family sorrow.
