“ Well a year has gone by already. Where did the time go. God has gotten me through just like He said He would. I love you and miss you. Mother's Day is on Sunday and I wish you was here so I can give you that big hug that I always give you. I love you Ma and I pray that I will see your face again. Always###imported-begin###Anna (Daughter)###imported-end###

“ Ms Sheila - May the lord continue to allow the presence of your Loving and caring sprit to always look over and guide your love ones through this difficult loss of you not being with them in the flesh. I know you had a really good strong loving sprit, because it's still felt strongly everyday amongst your love ones, family and friends. May your strong loving sprit always live within all of us. You will truly always be missed, but you will live in the hearts and minds of all of us. May we all be lucky enough to one day see you again.##imported-begin##Carl Smith - Friend of the family##imported-end##

“ To a caring and loving sweet mom you are so very missed and its going to be extremely hard to go into the New Year without you and even though they keep saying your watching over us, I'm selfish I'd rather have you here calling me saying "how you sweetie" "whats wrong" and "do you have a hat on your head" and "what the kids eat" ... I'm selfish like that I guess...I will always miss you with all my heart and soul and I pray that one day I will see you again... The kids and I send you many hugs and kisses ....In loving memory your oldest daughter. peace and continued rest.##imported-begin##Tasha##imported-end##

“ I wish to extend my heartfelt condolences to the family. I too have lost loved ones, and I know how deep the pain can be. What has comforted my family is the holy scriptures, which gives us a wonderful hope for the future; a hope of being reunited with our loved ones who have passed. One scripture that comes to mind is found at 1st Cor 15:26 which says, "As the last enemy, death will be brought to nothing." Also Acts 24:15 says that there will be a resurrection of both the righteous and the unrighteous." A most comforting scripture is found at John 5:28,29 which lets us know that all those in the memorial tombs will hear Jesus's voice and come out. Imagine seeing your Shelis alive again. One day this will all be a reality. I hope that you find much comfort and strength from reading the bible to help you to cope with your trials.##imported-begin##R Johnson##imported-end##

“ To the family, please accept my condolences. At times it seems difficult to find comfort when we have lossed a loved one. May you be comforted in the hope of the resurrection. Jesus demonstrated this at John 11:38-44 with Lazarus (please take time to read). We are also comforted at Rev 21:4, when God says that he is going to wipe out every tear from our eyes and death will be no more. With these conditions gone we can look forward to paradise. May this bring you strength and encouragement during your loss.##imported-begin##Mrs. Howard##imported-end##
