“ Dear Mike, Debbie, Theodore, and all other family members, I am so saddened to learn of Sheila's sudden transition. It was Sheila and Debbie who most supported me during the passing of my younger brother (Nov. 2014), and the illness and subsequent transition of my older brother (July 2015) even attending his funeral.

Sheila and Mike welcomed me into their home during the time of my older brother's illness and continuous hospital visits. Sheila would often accompany me to the Nursing facility to visit with him during which time, we laughed and argued about Duke vs. Maryland basketball.

Sheila was a vibrant, creative, giving human being. She and her siblings are among the few people in this world with whom I share fond High School memories, still. Unfortunately, I was not able to attend the services, or sing one of her favorite hymns -- perhaps in another life. Love you baby sis...

With profound sadness, yet joy for having shared space and time with you,

Dr. Debi Hamlin, Vocalist, Professor of History, and founder of the BronzeTone Center for Music & History -- Nov. 17, 2024

“ My heart cried when I heard you had transitioned. Everyday after all I see is your beautiful smile. You were so loving, caring and giving. Now your resting with those who meant the world to you, especially, my mother, Sheila. She loved you as her own and you were a big sister to me. Sometimes bossy, stubborn, and straight to the point. We will never forget how you helped us with our mom and dad during their sickness and transitioning. You have always done things your way with no regrets. I know where you are and with whom you belong because you were a child of the KING, JESUS CHRIST. So, your new home was prepared just for you. I wish I had the chance to speak to you one more time but that wasn't in God's plan. Know that I love you and you can rest easy. You will always be missed. You took care of all of us in some form or fashion even when we didn't know we needed you. So, rest my sister rest.

Love,
Sonya Hull
