

Stanford Anthony Brown AKA Tony

February 2, 1967 - April 14, 2022

STANFORD ANTHONY BROWN, son of the late Stanford Lee Bouldin and Annie Beatrice Brown, was born February 2, 1967, in Staten Island, N.Y. On Thursday, April 14, 2022, he entered Eternal Rest at his home in Baltimore.

Educated in the public schools of Staten Island, he attended P.S. 18 and P.S. 40, Junior High School 49 Berta A. Dreyfus, and Susan Wagner High School. Tony, as he was affectionately known, loved playing with his tool kits, which is where he began his love of building and construction. GI Joe action figures and toy soldiers were his other childhood loves. He cherished putting together jigsaw puzzles with his mother and playing Spades with friends. As a Cub Scout, he learned survival and outdoor skills and tried to keep himself physically and mentally strong.

In Shiloh Baptist Church, Tony sang in the Children's Choir and participated in Easter programs. A favorite Easter song was "He rose, He rose, He rose from the dead, And the Lord shall bear my spirit home." On a visit to his Aunt Mary Rhodes in Baltimore, Tony shared that he sang in the children's choir. Impressed, she taught him one of her favorite songs: "He may not come when you want Him, but He is always right on time." These experiences connected Tony as a small boy to God and his family's spiritual legacy.

As a teen, he enjoyed basketball with neighborhood buddies. He had a talent for Art and Drawing and loved sketching landscapes, scenery, and action figures. Tony was also a budding graffiti artist and an aspiring Rap Artist.

With the help of a music producer, he and friend Harry “Junior” Veden produced a video.

Tony was a carpentry apprentice under Timothy Belmar. He also worked on home renovation and building restoration. He renovated an apartment so skillfully, the property owner rented him the apartment. After moving to Baltimore, he continued using the skills he had mastered. In Baltimore, he reconnected with family, especially his oldest brother Cornell where Tony lived until he established his own home and family. However, Tony never lost his connection with his Staten Island family and friends.

On January 9, 2010, he married Eva Caldwell. They met as teens on Staten Island. He spoke with happiness about her, saying, “We built a beautiful life together.” Home and family meant everything to him, and he worked conscientiously to be a great husband, father, brother, uncle, grandfather, and friend.

Tony was a child of God. He diligently read and studied the Word of God and wanted to be an example for his children. He accepted Jesus, continually reaffirmed his faith, shared his testimony, and trusted God throughout his fight with cancer.

Though deeply saddened, through our tears we celebrate his life. His memory is cherished by: his wife, Eva; children, Juaniece, Tiarra, Allira, Brandyn, Jordyn; step-daughters, Kristen and Cameryn; step-granddaughter, Naaliyah; siblings Verna (Gregory) Robinson, Cornell Battle, Stanley Bouldin, Yvonne Battle, Micia Brown, Concetta (Kevin) Sims; father- and mother-in-law, George K. and Janet Lee; brother-in-law Morgan (Tisha) Lee; sister-in-law, Jessica Lee; special cousin, Barbara Draughn; special friend, Harry Veden; and a host of nieces, nephews, cousins and friends.

“Gone, but Tony will never be forgotten. You didn't have to have known Tony for a long time, he was immediately a 'longtime friend'. You didn't have to be family for Tony to treat you like family. His testimony was pure, straight and golden. He loved the Lord and knew where he was going when he left this physical world. I thank God for a life lived to glorify God no matter what the circumstances.

Truly Tony is already missed - but Tony is still sharing his testimony. Grateful just to have been a member of his family.

“It's not how Tony died because that was God's decision, but how he lived while amongst us and the love he shared with those he came in contact with. This is how we truly measure the worth of a person not whether or not they attended church or what degrees they earned while traveling through this life. But, did they love the Lord as Tony did and shared God with those who crossed their path. While we're sorry to see him leave us, we will see him again because he left the "door opened" to join him when God calls us home. Rest In Peace my dear cousin for we will see you again if we follow the path Tony chose when God calls us home. Cousin Valjean
