

Sylvia Turner

April 14, 1941 - February 3, 2019

Sylvia Turner, daughter of the late Lantham and Estella Turner, was born on April 14, 1941 in Baltimore, Maryland. She departed this life on February 3, 2019 after a lengthy illness.

At a young age she began attending Centennial United Methodist Church. She received her education in the Baltimore City Public School System and graduated from Dunbar High school. Her first job after high school was at the Maryland Motor Vehicle Administration. She then went on to her career at the National Security Agency from which she retired on medical disability. Sylvia later returned to work part time in the Baltimore City Public School System.

Affectionately known as “Syl” to family and friends, she was quite the social butterfly. She loved to travel and enjoy life. Always the “Glamor Girl”, Syl loved to keep her hair, make-up, and clothes looking nice. She would always be, as she would say, “sharp” even if she were staying in the house.

Syl was very outspoken, she had no problem telling you what was on her mind. She loved spending time with her family and friends. She could always be found talking to one or more of her sister friends, especially Phyllis Fitzgerald, Joan Hinton, Eleanor Risher, Vivian Russo, Delores Jackson, and Francis Carr.

Left to cherish her memory: her sister, Delores Turner; her nephew, Antonino Stephens; and host of other relatives and friends. Syl was preceded in death by her brother, Lantham E. Turner and sisters, Lana T. Powell and Barbara Turner.
