Terrance Lorrain Marshall, known to us all as “Sissy”, was born October 7, 1954, to the late Eugene Brown (Brandy) and Buelah Wright (Mama) in Baltimore, Maryland. For 70 years she made it her duty to spend the word until the Lord called her home August 28, 2025, for eternal resting. Even in her last moments, she used them singing praises to the Lord

Sissy resided in Baltimore City Public Schools, in 1974 Sissy married Robert Marshall and in 1983, she welcomed their beautiful daughter Terrese Robin Marshall. She was a true light in her community and she would always greet others with a kind word and a warm smile, She enjoyed supporting others and worked in her neighborhood community center while also helping children with homework, She assisted families by providing them with financial resources, Sissy also assisted families by providing such as Noah’s Ark which spread the gospel to children in different communities, while also being a Sunday School teacher at Kingsway Christian Center. She later received her title as Minister Marshall at Inner Center.
