“ I had the pleasure of knowing MS Delores as a young child when my family moved across the street from them. She and my mom became great friends. Every time renovations were done we either lived next door on corners or across from the street from this wonderful family. MS Delores was such a ray of sunshine to everyone that crossed her path and will be missed tremendously by my family especially my mom. After all those 40 some years of living across or beside each other they finally got to share a porch together. Rest in Peace MS Delores, I will always love and miss you.

“ Mrs. Johnson has been my Mother-in-law for near 30 years. She was the most respectful, loving, kind and impartial woman of such deep faith and devotion to Christ I've ever had the honor of knowing. She loved everyone and treated them fairly with her kindness. She also loved to laugh and make you laugh. She told me, along with raising 5 children of her own, that she fostered over 100 children. She took in very troubled and addicted children and gave them her love. She never raised her voice, except maybe in church praising the Lord, but if you were out of line, she firmly let you know. She was loved by all who she touched and will so deeply be missed, especially by her family. Mom, we know you are in Heaven with your 2 best friends, Grandma and Bonnie, in no more pain & singing the praises of our Saviour. We'll keep watching for those little signs that remind us you're watching over us. Until we meet again on that Peaceful Shore. I love you so much!!

“ Growing up with Jewel, we use to run in and out of each other's houses. Mrs. Delores was a foster mom and although she was loving, she was a disciplinarian. Just like all the mothers. One thing I will always remember her saying to the kids, "at ease your lips." Didn't really know what "at ease" ment as as a youth but I knew it had something to do with shouting your mouth. That phrase went on to save me from alot of trouble when I joined the Army. No matter what I was doing, whenever I hear "at ease" I knew to stop and shut up. Lol. Sending my love and prayers to the family, especially my sista Jazzy Jewel. Mom is dancing and shouting in heavenly places with her Lord Jesus Christ. No more hurt no more pain. She is totally "at ease" in the presence of our KING! Love Antoinette Pack
