“ Tracey and I met online on the MOMS website after she lost Terrell. We had so many lovely online conversations and became close. Tracey and I called each other “twinnie” because even though we lived on opposite sides of the country, we shared many similarities. She also told me I was the only one to call her “Trace” besides her brother. The worst part about distance is not having the privilege of taking care of your loved one. I don’t know what brought on Tracey’s passing, but she had told me her health was a concern. I just pray that she was surrounded by love because her sweet spirit deserved that. If not people here, I know Terrell and Ray brought their light to her. I will never forget her beautiful soul. I love you my Twin. 💕
