“ Troy was a very kind friend that I met while serving in the Marine Corp at Camp Pendleton, California. I met my wife while, Troy and I were at the Oceanside Bus Depot. We were waiting to catch a ride to the Mall in Carlsbad. I never knew what became of Troy, but on February 27, 2015, I found out through another buddy that he had passed away. I was very sadness by this news, but know that he is in a better place. Troy D. Roles....I'll see you again someday buddy!!

“ As with Steven Rollover, I also knew Troy. I served with him in Aco. 1st. Tank Bn. 1st Marine Division. He was our platoon radio guy. And he was a great friend. I also had been searching for Troy for the last several years. I will always have great memories of him.

“ I have been searching for my friend from the Marine Corps for years, and now to see that he is gone breaks my heart exceedingly. I never got the chance to say goodbye to him when I EAS out the Corps, he had duty or something that day and I had to leave.

I wish only the best and the Blessings of God on him, and want the family to know that he not only was loved by his family, but he was loved by his buddies in the Marines too. The world for me will be a much lonelier place without his soul gracing us here on earth.

God Bless you all,
