“ Tywan, you began your journey with the Lord as a little boy listening to those old hymns of Zion in my mother’s house. You began your educational experience in a Christian school. After your accident, God gave me the strength to walk down a long hallway in University Hospital alongside your mother to pray over you. God restored your health through prayers. I remember your mother putting the phone to your ear and you thanking me for all the prayers. I remember praying with the family for your healing. I can still feel your hugs and your sloppy kisses on my cheek. I thank God for you life, your unforgettable smile and your resting place in the mansion that He went to prepare for you. You will always have a place in my heart!
