“ To the family. I would like to give my deepest condolences for your loss. At a time like this it can seem like you don't know how you will make it through, but we have a reason for comfort and for hope. The Bible calls Jehovah God "the God of all comfort, who comforts us in all of our tribulation." (2 Corinthians 1:3, 4) So God will supply us with all we need to make it through these troublesome times. But along with that comfort he also supplies us with a hope that only he can fulfill. At John 5:28, 29 we read where Jesus foretells of a wonderful event that is soon to be realized. He says: "Do not marvel at this, because the hour is coming in which ALL those in the memorial tombs will hear his voice and come out." What a joyous time to reflect on as we await it. I hope that you are able to find comfort and have hope in the promises found in God's Word.##imported-begin##Sausha S.##imported-end##

“ I send my heartfelt condolences to the family at this difficult time. Remember that when a loved one dies they are sleeping in God's memory, and one day they will awaken from the dead. Death is not the final end, because the bible speaks of a resurrection for both the righteous and the unrighteous. Acts 24:15. One day we can have the joy of being reunited with our loved ones again in peaceful and secure conditions for all eternity; providing we are obedient to our loving heavenly father. May the hope of seeing Vashti alive again brighten your day, and give you a hope to cling to.##imported-begin##Rita Johnson##imported-end##
