

Walter John Williams

April 13, 1952 - June 8, 2002

Walter John Williams, Sr., son of Ella Williams and the late Thomas L. Williams, was born on April 13, 1952 in Louisa, Virginia. He departed this life on June 8, 2002, after a courageous battle with illness. He received his education in the Baltimore City Public Schools. He was self-employed as an automobile mechanic and could fix anything with an engine. He was baptized in the Church of Christ in June of 1963. He married the former Rhonda Davis in October 1973. Walter was a person who seemed to make friends wherever he went. He did not judge a book by its cover. He loved people. He enjoyed motorcycles, cars, keyboards and drums. His hobbies included gardening and crossword puzzles. Walter had a humble spirit and fought a gallant fight. He was a "brave soldier." All who knew him will sincerely miss Walter. He was a loved son, brother, husband, father, uncle, nephew, cousin, and friend.

“ Greetings and Blessings to all Walter's family and friends. I will miss Walter very much. He was my first best freind in life. We have been friends since kindergarten to Club Scouts, to Boy scouts, to teenagers,to early adulthood, when we lost contact. About two months ago we met again and we spent the evening talking about the good old days, the journeys in our lives, and this moment in time that we now reached. Walter was always there for me in the good times and bad times. He was a true friend and he will always be missed...##imported-begin##Bernard Maiden Jr.##imported-end##
